

My husband drives a truck for a living, all over the country. He depends on XM Radio to keep him from eternal boredom. As his wife I really appreciate that he can get news and weather reports on the city he's entering before he gets there. Often times he's been able to avoid routes where there are accidents, and sometimes avoid an area that is having extreme weather. XM Radio is fast becoming one of the most important tools the professional trucker has to keep him up to date and informed. This is a service we pay for, just as home viewers pay for cable TV. Thank you for considering the importance of XM in the life of the Professional Truck Driver. He or she has a difficult job at best, let's not make it more difficult. Sincerely Linda Miller
